

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

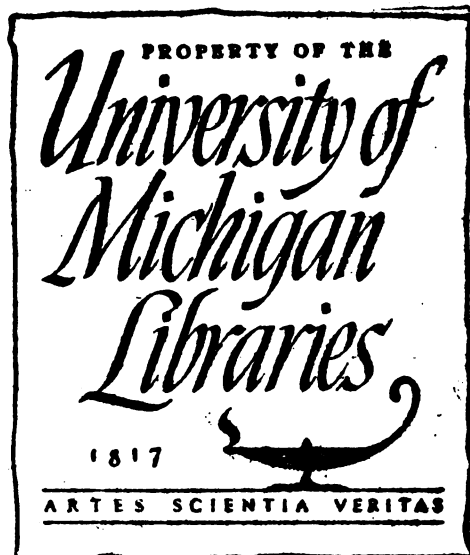

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

For more than forty years provision has been made in the Constitution of Michigan for a free public Library in every township, to be maintained by a ratable share of all criminal fines imposed in the County to which it belonged. The Legislature has modified and developed the plan from time to time, and in 1859 enacted that where the various school districts of a township were themselves furnished with Libraries, these should be regarded as constituting the township Library, and the fine-money due the township should be properly distributed to the districts. All the Library laws that were passed, however, applied with substantially the same effect to Detroit, which was a school-district in itself, and for all the purposes of these laws had also the rights of a township.

But it was not until twenty years of benefit from the Library laws had been allowed to lapse, and the act of 1859 had revived the subject, that the first effective steps were taken to secure for the city its Library. In April, 1859, Inspector H. E. BAKER, of the Board of Education, moved an inquiry why the Board, which was the lawful custodian of the Library funds, never received any fines. Under his own resolution he made the preliminary examination himself, and two months afterwards reported as a result of his investigations, including a personal inspection of the books of the Police Justice, that there was due the Board some $4,000 in fines and forfeited recognizances. The inquiry was continued, and early in 1861 closed with a final report from Inspector EDMUND HALL, who had succeeded Mr. BAKER as Chairman of the Library Committee, and found as the result of a thorough examination that the County was indebted to Detroit for nearly $20,000 in fines never paid over. Some time before these official proceedings, and without the knowledge that they were pending, and with the same purpose, Prof. HENRY CHANEY had kept for six months a systematic record of fines imposed in the Police Court, according to daily statement in the Free Press, and formed a conclusion similar to that of Mr. BAKER. These results he turned over to the Board of Education. But notwithstanding the plain provisions of the Constitution and the laws, it was not without hard work on the part of private individuals that the Library was ever established. The Supervisors resisted the payment of so large a sum as $20,000, and to save litigation the claim was reduced one-half by a compromise. It became necessary to apply to the Supreme Court for a writ to compel the County Treasurer to pay over the clear proceeds of the fines, without deductions for court or collection expenses. In this application the Board was represented by Inspector HALL and Judge SAMUEL T. DOUGLAS, also an Inspector, and the records of the Board show that for this professional work all compensation was declined.

At length, with no little expense and patient effort, ever due to the public spirit of a few individuals, a Public Library was secured, absolutely free to the public and yet absolutely independent of taxation for the purchase of a single book. The readers of the Library pay nothing directly or indirectly for their reading.

In 1867 the attempt was made to divert elsewhere a large part of the fund belonging to the Library by cutting off all fines received at the Central Station Court in Detroit, but the Supreme Court in two Cases confirmed the right of the Library to the fines there imposed.

Professor CHANEY was appointed Superintendent of the Library, and to him was committed for the most part the selection and purchase of books.

The annual growth of the Library is shown in the annexed statement of the number of volumes belonging to it in the years mentioned.

Year.	Number of Volumes.	Year.	Number of Volumes.	Year.	Number of Volumes.	Year.	Number of Volumes.
1865	8,864	1868	15,620	1871	21,161	1874	24,176
1866	10,959	1869	17,586	1872	22,115	1875	24,903
1867	15,020	1870	18,717	1873	22,882	1876	33,604

Many volumes have been received from the Government, and in a few instances valuable gifts of books have been made by private persons and societies. The actual cost of the books purchased, to the Library Fund, is estimated at about $50,000.

The Library was first opened in May, 1865, in a lower room of the old Capitol Building; in the winter of 1870-'71 it was transferred to an annex thereto, built in part for its accommodation, the same now used by the Detroit Scientific Association. In January, 1877, it was placed in the new Library Building, in Central Park, erected at a cost of one hundred and twenty-four thousand dollars, and with a capacity for shelf room for two hundred thousand volumes.

The Library is an efficient auxiliary of the Board of Education used in connection with the Public Schools, affording the student every opportunity for research and study without additional expense to the Public.

The management of the Library rests with a Library Committee appointed from the Board of Education. The names of the Chairmen of that Committee, and the dates of their appointment, are as follows: April, 1859, HENRY E. BAKER; Oct., 1859, EDMUND HALL; 1863, WILLIAM P. WELLS; 1865, SIDNEY D. MILLER; 1867, D. O. FARRAND; 1869, CHARLES K. BACKUS; 1873, ROBERT W. KING; 1874, WILLIAM JENNISON; 1875, WILLIAM D. WILKINS; 1875, JOHN T. LIGGETT; 1877, ROBERT E. ROBERTS.

The present Catalogue is the third complete catalogue of the Library. A supplement to the second edition, containing in itself seventy-three pages, was published in 1871. All the preceding catalogues were arranged according to the alphabetical order of the names of the authors. In this an attempt has been made to classify the books by general subjects, giving the titles under each subject in alphabetical order. As there are about six thousand volumes in the hands of readers of the Library it was not possible for the Compiler to examine each book for a critical classification, as the classification in general had to be made from a copy of the title page, which in some instances furnishes no clue to the subject of the work. That its general plan will be found well adapted for the convenience of the readers of the Library is confidently believed.

H. M. CRITTENDEN, COMPILER.

XIII. Any person abusing the privileges of the Library or violating these regulations shall be temporarily suspended from the use of the Library, and the case shall be reported to the Library Committee for proper action thereon.

EXPLANATIONS.

Books are classified under general heads, giving the titles in alphabetical order, except in Foreign Literature and Poetry, where the Authors are given in alphabetical order with a sub-alphabetical arrangement of their works.

In the Authors' column the name given is the one that the public are most familiar with.

The index gives the page to the Division under which the subject is written.

Words and names in heavy-faced type indicate the alphabetical place for the book upon the shelf.

A dash (—) at the beginning of a line indicates a repetition of the preceding heading.

Many books not under the head of "Works of Reference" do not circulate.
